In activities involving families, it is important to be sensitive to the family situations of all students. Some of the activities suggested here may need to be adapted.

THEME:
Families have many different configurations, but it's the people who make up a family that makes it unique.

PROGRAM SUMMARY:
In the feature book, a girl, who after her parents divorce doesn't see her father very often, frequently thinks about him and treasures the time they have together.

LeVar joins a Family Day picnic and shares how he grew up in a single parent family. Viewers meet a one parent family, and see how these four children and father manage schedules, responsibilities and share lots of love. A boy who rarely hears from his father tells how the "Big Brother, Big Sister" program paired him with a special friend. This episode explores a delicate family issue in a positive way.

TOPICS FOR DISCUSSION:
Pose the question, "What is a family?" Make a list of the children's ideas and formulate a definition.

Have students relate favorite activities they do with their fathers, other older male family members, or an older male family friend.

The little girl in the story had certain things that reminded her of her father whenever she saw them. Discuss with students what reminds them of their parents.

The children in the story participated in lots of summertime fun. Discuss the students' favorite summer activities.

Have students share affectionate or "pet" names their parents or grandparents call them that no one else uses.

CURRICULUM EXTENSION ACTIVITIES:
Make a Venn diagram of the roles and responsibilities of mothers and fathers. Since the ideas will come from the students' own experiences and perceptions, there will likely be lively discussion about the unique nature of families.

Brainstorm a list of words that name family members (e.g., great-grandmother, cousin, stepfather, uncle, sister, etc.). Include synonyms on the list (e.g., father, dad, daddy, papa, etc.). Discuss the relationships of these family members.

Have students interview a dad (their own, an uncle, grandfather, family friend, etc.) regarding the great joys or moments and the difficult things about being a dad. Share the interview information in class.

Have students write a biography of their father (or stepfather, uncle, grandfather, family friend, a “famous” dad). Discuss the types of information usually found in a biography and ways they might find out what they need to know. Illustrate the biographies with drawings or photographs.

Involve the students in a survey of individual family members to determine their "favorites" in categories such as the following: food, game/toy, TV show, animal, book, and family activity. Prepare a survey sheet, with the categories written down the left side, for students to take home and complete by writing the names of family members across the top and each person's "favorite" in the intersecting boxes. Invite students to share their surveys in class and discuss ways that their families are alike and different.

Go to the playground or a nearby park (a grassy area is preferable) and participate in some activities such as those in the 'Family Day' picnic from the video. These activities might include: three-legged race; sack race; water balloon toss (students form two lines a few feet apart and toss a water balloon to their partner directly across from them; after each toss, they take a step back); spoon relay (team members balance an egg on a spoon and walk quickly across a designated distance to pass the spoon to the next team member); and others.

Obtain a copy of the book and have students examine the artistic technique used by the illustrator. Discuss how he might have achieved the "scratchy" effect. (According to a note in the book, he used watercolor, charcoal, colored pencils, and lithograph pencils, and etched the surface with tools including an empty ballpoint pen and a scratcher.) Have students draw a scene with crayons or colored pencils and experiment with the scratch technique, using a variety of tools to etch away some of the color.
RELATED THEMES:
- families
- intergenerational relationships
- summer season

RELATED READING RAINBOW PROGRAMS:
- Program #89 — Through Moon And Stars And Night Skies
- Program #20 — A Chair For My Mother
- Program #58 — Little Nino’s Pizzeria
- Program #22 — The Patchwork Quilt

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:
Always My Dad is based on Sharon Dennis Wyeth’s relationship with her own father and their summertime visits to her grandparents’ farm. She is the author of several middle grade books and has worked as a voice teacher, family counselor, and writer for daytime television.

ABOUT THE ILLUSTRATOR:
Raúl Colón’s art ranges from puppet design to short animated films for television. His illustrations have appeared in several magazines and in the New York Times. Always My Dad is his first children’s book. He lives in New York City with his wife and children.

BOOKS REVIEWED BY CHILDREN:
- BOUNDLESS GRACE
  by Mary Hoffman, illus. by Caroline Binch (Dial)
- TAXI! TAXI!!
  by Cari Best, illus. by Dale Gottlieb (Little, Brown)
- THE PERFECT SPOT
  by Robert J. Blake (Putnam & Grosset)

SUPPLEMENTARY BOOKLIST:
- DADDY, DADDY, BE THERE
  by Candy Dawson Boyd, illus. by Floyd Cooper (Philomel)
- THE PAINTER
  by Peter Catalanotto (Orchard)
- HOLDING ONTO SUNDAY
  by Kathryn Galbraith (McElderry)
- WHEN WE MARRIED GARY
  by Anna Grossnickle Hines (Greenwillow)

FAMILIES: A CELEBRATION OF DIVERSITY, COMMITMENT, AND LOVE
- by Aylette Jenness (Houghton Mifflin)
- LIKE JAKE AND ME
  by Mavis Jukes, illus. by Lloyd Bloom (Knopf)
- IF I’D KNOWN THEN WHAT I KNOW NOW
  by Reeve Lindbergh, illus. by Kimberly Bulcken Root (Viking)
- THE DADDY BOOK
  by Ann Morris, photos by Ken Heyman (Silver Press)
- FAMILIES ARE DIFFERENT
  by Nina Pellegrini (Holiday House)
- MY OL’ MAN
  by Patricia Polacco (Philomel)
- MY FATHER’S HANDS
  by Joanne Ryder, illus. by Mark Graham (Morrow)
- TODAY I’M GOING FISHING WITH MY DAD
  by N. Sharp, illus. by Chris Demarest (Boysd Mills)
- DADDY PLAYED MUSIC FOR THE COWS
  by Maryann Weidt, illus. by Henri Sorensen (Lothrop, Lee & Shepard)

READING RAINBOW TEACHER’S GUIDE
Program #121 — Always My Dad
"Always My Dad" is about a little girl who's father is often absent from her life. When she visits her paternal grandparents her father comes to spend time with her and her siblings. After a few days he tells the children he must go again. Wikisimpsons - The Simpsons Wiki. "Always My Dad" is a song that Lisa wrote and sang in the finale of the Krusty's Li'l Starmaker competition. She wrote it herself because her father went over to help the other contestant, Cameron. I'm in the final two, I should be happy. But all I want to do, Is spend more time, With my pappy. Now that you're gone, Dad, I miss you so much. And your threats against teamsters, And techies and such. Your management style, Is like Attila the Hun. Always My Dad tells the story of a girl who dreams of seeing her father. She knows that work takes him away, but wherever he is, doing whatever he is doing, she knows he is always her dad. When a summer at her grandparents' farm brings her absent father home, every moment is filled with happiness and fun until he announces that he must leave again. Before he goes, he reminds her that he loves her and always will.