Statement By President Charles E. Kupchella To The University Of North Dakota Community
March 2, 2001

There have been reports of inflammatory rhetoric and possible acts of intimidation as the University and local communities discuss the issues surrounding UND’s use of the Fighting Sioux team name. None of this is helpful or appropriate. I ask all parties to conduct themselves in a manner that is respectful of all points of view. There must be room, particularly in a University environment, for the expression of strongly felt opinions on both sides of every issue, including this one. However, we cannot accept, and will not accept, threats, intimidation or acts of violence. Such actions should be reported at once. They will be vigorously investigated, and the offenders dealt with as provided by the laws of the State of North Dakota and the regulations of the University.

Upcoming U2 Workshops Listed

Please pre-register by calling Staci at the U2 office, 777-2128 or use e-mail at U2@mail.und.nodak.edu, for the following workshops.

Access 00, Level II - March 19, 21 and 23, 1:30 to 4 p.m. (7.5 hours total), 361 Upson II. Create queries and table, customize forms, and format reports. Instructor: Jim Malins, Computer Center.

Creating a Web Page Using HTML - March 20 and 22, 8:30 to 11 a.m. (5 hours total), 361 Upson II. Learn how to create a Web page with Hyper Text Markup Language, graphics, and links. Instructor: Doris Bornhoef, Computer Center.

New! PC Hardware - Upgrades - March 20 and 27, 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. (8 hours total)143 Starcher Hall. Upgrading a PC could be a cost-effective alternative to purchasing a new computer. This workshop is designed to teach you how to interpret manufacturer’s specifications, identify what can be upgraded, and whether it is worth your time, effort, and money. You will then have an opportunity to apply your newly acquired skills by performing upgrades on a PC. Instructor: Dave Yearwood, Industrial Technology. Fee: $89 (includes instruction and reference materials). Special note: a comparable external workshop would be $264.

Interviewing Techniques - March 21, 9 to 11 a.m., 235 Rural Technology Center. Hiring good employees is one of the most important issues facing supervisors. Learn how to plan and conduct interviews so that you identify the best candidate for the job and follow applicable regulations. Instructor: Diane Nelson, Personnel Services.

You can register online at www.conted.und.edu/U2 or call Staci, U2 program assistant at 777-2128 or e-mail us at U2@mail.und.nodak.edu. If you have special needs or need accommodations, please phone the U2 office as well. – Judy Streifel Reller, U2 Program Coordinator.

UND Invited To Satellite Conference

On Industry-University Contracting

A satellite conference, “Divergent Views and Issues When Contracting With Industry,” will be held Wednesday, March 21, in 128 Ryan Hall, from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Sponsored by the Office of Research and Program Development, this broadcast is the third in a series of four satellite conferences on issues in research administration.

This program will highlight the divergent views and issues associated with industrial contracting. Perspectives of the university administrator, the university attorney and the company sponsor will be incorporated as we look to understand cultural differences. Faculty representing universities, nonprofit research institutes, and business groups will address appropriate risk management and offer sample solutions that can be deployed to meet the needs of all parties.

Everyone is invited. No registration is required, but individuals who are planning to attend should contact Sally Eckert-Tilotta at 777-2049 or sally_eckert-tilotta@mail.und.nodak.edu, before the conference to receive information about materials to be downloaded. -- Sally Eckert-Tilotta, Interim Director, Office of Research and Program Development.

Science Discovery Day Set For March 24

Fifth- and sixth-grade students are invited to the annual Science Discovery Day Saturday, March 24, at the School of Medicine and Health Sciences. The event, which features “hands-on” learning activities, is organized by the American Medical Student Association (AMSA). Participants are asked to submit a $2 fee with their registration, which is due Saturday, March 17.

The children may choose to attend either the morning (8 a.m. to noon) or afternoon (1 to 5 p.m.) session. In each session, medical student-supervised activities, designed to stimulate children’s interest in science, will focus on human health issues, anatomy, use of computers in medicine, awareness of the dangers of tobacco use, various science projects, and HIV/AIDS.

For more information and registration forms, contact the Medical Science Office of Public Affairs at 777-4305 or mlucke@medicine.nodak.edu. -- Megan Muilenburg, Second-Year Medical Student.

Students May Register For Courses Online

Web ALFI will be available this spring for summer 2001 and early fall 2001 registration. Time schedules will be available on the web Friday, March 9. Students may use either Phone ALFI or Web ALFI to check their registration appointment times for the fall semester beginning Monday, March 12. Early registration will begin Monday, April 2, and students will be able to use either Phone ALFI or Web ALFI to select their courses at their appointed times. More information on registering using WEB ALFI will be available in the time schedule or at www.und.edu/dept/registrar. For more information, call the Office of the Registrar at 777-2711 or e-mail web_alfi@mail.und.nodak.edu. -- Nancy Krogh, University Registrar.

Proposals Due For IRB Review

The Institutional Review Board will meet at 3:30 p.m. Friday, April 6, in 305 Twamley Hall, to consider all research proposals submitted to the Office of Research and Program Development before Tuesday, March 27. Proposals received later will be considered only if a quorum has reviewed them and time permits.

Clinical medical projects must be reviewed by the Clinical Medical Subcommittee before being brought to the full board. Proposals for these projects are due in the Office of Research and Program Development Tuesday, March 20.

Notes from the meeting will be available in ORPD approximately one week after the meeting. -- Sue Jacobs (Counseling), Chair, Institutional Review Board.

Odegar School Will Offer Master’s In Aviation

The State Board of Higher Education has approved the implementation of a Master’s of Science degree in Aviation at the John D. Odegard School of Aerospace Sciences.

Students from almost anywhere in the world can earn a graduate degree in aviation. One of only a few aviation-related graduate programs in the United States, UND’s program is the only one to offer an interactive distance learning component. Students can enroll on campus or take advantage of off-campus delivery by viewing videotapes of the lectures and participating in two online chat sessions per week throughout each semester. Distance education students are required to come to the campus a week in the summer in conjunction with graduation, allowing them to pursue an advanced aviation degree without leaving their jobs or disrupting their lives. The on-campus program will begin in August 2001 and the off-campus program will begin in January 2002. The program will take two years to complete.

EPSCoR Announces Graduate Recruiting Program

North Dakota EPSCoR implemented a new program to increase opportunities for graduating seniors from the North Dakota University System comprehensive and liberal arts institutions to obtain M.S. and/or Ph.D. degrees in science, engineering and mathematics at North Dakota’s research universities (NDSU and UND).

Grades of Dickinson, Mayville, Minot, and Valley City State Universities may be awarded ND EPSCoR Graduate Assistantships to obtain M.S. and/or Ph.D. degrees in science, engineering and mathematics at North Dakota’s research universities.

This program is designed to strengthen the links between the research universities and the science and mathematics departments at the four-year universities. It increases the in-state opportunities for the students at the undergraduate institutions and provides an additional recruiting tool for the research universities.

Applications will be accepted immediately. The program description can be found on the ND EPSCoR web page (www.ndsu.nodak.edu/epscor/new_grad_fellowship.html), from the Graduate School office or from the North Dakota EPSCoR offices 415 Twamley Hall, 777-2492.

Researchers at UND will soon make thousands of geology and other Earth science photos available online. Although images of geological features and processes are common the Web, few sites provide either high-resolution images or descriptive text in a searchable format.

A collaborative effort among three departments is producing the innovative resource for educational and public use. Educators, researchers, students, and the public around the globe will have access to many well-documented photos that otherwise would likely be unavailable to them.

GeoDIL, an acronym for Geoscience Digital Image Library, is a core component of a national effort to bring quality digital data of all types to the classroom. In September 2000, the Department of Geology and Geological Engineering, the Energy and Environmental Research Center (EERC), and the John D. Odgaard School for Aerospace Sciences teamed up to obtain a grant of $86,000 from the National Science Foundation to develop a Web database for geoscience digital images and associated documentation. UND provided additional funds to facilitate this ground-breaking effort. A total of nearly $500,000, most coming from the NSF and other agencies, will be used to bring GeoDIL online. The result will be a GeoDIL database with more images and better documentation than anything presently available.

GeoDIL will be easy to use, both for the public and librarians. It will be a robust, flexible system, adaptable to changing needs and technology. A sophisticated search engine will allow users to browse the library and load selected images into virtual carousels for viewing at any location with Internet access.

GeoDIL's goal is to “provide any instructor and research scientist at any location the ability to search for images on almost any subject related to the Earth,” said Dexter Perkins (Geology and Geological Engineering), principal investigator for GeoDIL. “Our task is to make the natural imagery of the geological sciences conveniently available for use in classroom presentation,” said Joseph Hartman (Paleontology and EERC senior research advisor) and GeoDIL co-principal investigator. “Few educators have photo documentation beyond their research specialties. With well-documented text associated with each image and with images linked by topic and specialty, instructors will be able to augment their classroom presentation with appropriate images.”

Perkins and Hartman also see major use of GeoDIL by the traveling public. Families planning trips may search GeoDIL for sight-seeing adventures. The Earth is naturally photogenic, but beyond pretty pictures, the users of GeoDIL will have the opportunity to learn more about the scenic wonders of the Earth. Students in elementary and middle school who use the Web as their primary source of information will also find GeoDIL a treasure trove of fun facts and photos to document their homework reports.

The construction of GeoDIL as a Web site is under the direction of Henry Borysewicz and Joseph Stevens (both AeroSpace Network). The programming tasks are complicated and represent innovations in database and Web technology.

The Web site will be up and running and available to the public later this spring.

Announcements

Submit 2000 FlexComp Claims By March 23

You are reminded that if you have money remaining in your FlexComp medical spending account and/or dependent care spending account for the plan year ending Dec. 31, 2000, you have until March 30, 2001 (90 day IRS regulation) to submit any claims incurred in the 2000 plan year (Jan. 1, 2000 to Dec. 31, 2000). After that time, any remaining balances will be forfeited.

Vouchers should be received in the Payroll Office no later than Friday, March 23, for adequate processing time. If you have any questions, please feel free to call me. – Heidi Strande, Payroll Office, 777-4423.

Employees May Enroll In Courses At Low Cost

For just $4.17 per credit hour, UND employees may enroll in University classes. You may take up to three academic courses each calendar year, and may be granted work release time for one academic class per school session after receiving approval from your supervisor for release time during working hours. You must have successfully completed your probationary period. You can continue your education, earn a degree, or improve your skills. Staff members may work toward a degree; faculty may take courses for credit. Both faculty and staff members may audit courses.

You can choose from hundreds of courses, ranging from management and sciences to languages and music, from exercise and ceramics to first aid and financial management. Here’s how to enroll:

1. Pick up admissions materials, registration materials and a tuition waiver form at the Office of Admissions, 205 Twamley Hall (phone 777-3821) or at the Graduate School, 414 Twamley Hall (777-2784).

2. Choose the course you’d like to take. Prerequisites or other factors may affect registration.

3. Fill out the forms and have your supervisor/dean sign the tuition waiver forms. Return them to Admissions (undergraduates) or the Graduate School. The deadline for filing the waiver is Tuesday, May 1, for the summer session, and Friday, Aug. 17, for the fall semester.

4. Register according to instructions in the Time Schedule of Courses.

If you are enrolling for the first time, you need to complete and return an “Application for Admission” form, available from the Admissions Office or Graduate School. There is a $25 matriculation fee for an employee who has not previously enrolled. You may need to file transcripts from schools that you previously attended. Please note that some courses have additional fees that cannot be waived.

Take advantage of your $1,000 Benefit! — Heidi Kippenhan, Director of Admissions, and Diane Nelson, Director of Personnel.
Nominations Sought For Staff Awards

The University of North Dakota will again present Meritorious Service Awards of $1,000 each to 10 UND staff employees. In addition, the Ken and Toby Baker UND Proud Award of $1,000 will be presented.

The Meritorious Service Awards will be given to employees in each of five major groups. These groups and the number of awards presented are: Executive/Administrative/Professional (three); Technical/Paraprofessional (one); Office (three); Crafts/Trades (one); and Services (two). The Ken and Toby Baker UND Proud Award may be given to an employee from any of the groups. Eligible employees are those employed on a regular basis who are not in a probationary period. Those not eligible for consideration include the president, vice presidents, deans, associate and assistant deans, teaching and research faculty, the director of personnel, and Meritorious Service Award winners from the previous seven years.

All members of the University community are encouraged to nominate eligible employees for the awards by completing the nomination forms by Monday, April 16. Nomination forms are available from Personnel Services, 313 Twamley Hall, or electronically from the Personnel Services web site at www.und.edu/org/ops/Forms.

The awards will be presented during the annual Recognition Ceremony for Staff Personnel May 15.

Please direct any questions concerning this program to Personnel Services at 777-4361 or Personnel_Services@mail.und.nodak.edu. – Diane Nelson, Director, Personnel Services.

New Format Introduced For Direct Deposit Payroll Notices

Effective Feb. 15, the Payroll direct deposit notices are laser-printed on a regular 8½” x 11” sheet of paper. The reason for the change is that impact printers and the machine that separates the old direct deposit notices are being phased out and will not be available in the near future. Unbelievably, there is also a cost-savings to using the laser printed forms and an envelope, even when you include the additional labor for insertion. We have received an excellent response to the new forms, and we hope that we can continue to improve them with additional information for our employees. If you have any suggestions for our new format, please let us know and we would be happy to discuss it with you. - Pat Hanson, Director of Payroll/Risk Management.

New Edition Of UND Serves Book Is Now Online

The fourth edition has been completed of a publication listing how UND’s three-part mission of teaching, research, and service reaches well beyond its campus throughout the state. UND Serves North Dakota is a 240-page, county-by-county compilation of how widely UND takes its “product” to the state. Previous editions were issued in 1994, 1996, and 1999. Production and editing are by the Office of University Relations.

UND Serves North Dakota is available online at the UND web site at www.und.edu.nodak.edu/dept/our/county. – Jim Penwarden, Office of University Relations.

Winner Of “Name The Store” Contest Announced

The new Memorial Union Convenience Store has been named the U-Turn Convenience Store. Kristine Paranica (Conflict Resolution Center) submitted the winning entry in the recent Name the Store contest. Over 50 entries from UND students, faculty and staff were considered. The contest was held last month during the Grand Opening Celebration.

The U-Turn Convenience Store on the first floor of the Memorial Union carries a variety of snacks, magazines, school supplies, cards, and health and beauty aids. Hours of operation are Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. -- Tammy Rodriquez, Manager, U-Turn Convenience Store.

UND Recycles Tons

The more we recycle, the cheaper it gets. We recycled 286 ton of mixed paper in 1999-2000. How much energy is saved by landiffing? Landiffing never saves energy, recycling does. Please recycle. -- Janice Trotte, Recycling Coordinator.

Items For Sale To Public On Bids

The University is offering for sale to the public on a sealed high-bid basis the following items: older computer equipment, drafting tables, and miscellaneous items. These may be seen at the Central Receiving warehouse on the southwest corner of the campus. Bids will be taken between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday, March 12-15. – Lee Sundby, Central Receiving.

In Remembrance

Remembering Jack Haley

Wayne “Jack” Haley Jr., evening circulation supervisor, Library of the Health Sciences, died Monday, Feb. 26, in Grand Forks. He was 37.

Wayne Jackson Haley was born March 20, 1963, the son of Wayne and Sue (Harvey) Haley, in Rhode Island. He grew up and attended school in Chula Vista, Calif. He graduated from San Diego State University and then joined the U.S. Air Force. He moved to Grand Forks in 1988. He worked with the Veterans Re-entry program at UND before moving to the Health Sciences library. He married Lee Anne Rerick in August 1989. He was admitted to the Graduate School of Guilt in the Old South”; Amy Wenzel (Psychology), $5,000, “The Course of Postpartum Anxiety Disorders and Their Relation to Postpartum Depression.”

Grants and Research

Research, Grant Opportunities Listed

Following are research and grant opportunities. For more information, contact the Office of Research and Program Development at 777-4278.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF MENTAL HEALTH (NIMH)

Proposals are solicited for projects relating to Dissemination Research in Mental Health. The purpose of this announcement is to stimulate research on the array of influences, and their interaction, that beneficially or adversely affect adoption of valid mental health research findings into clinical practice, and promote development of a sound knowledge base on the effectiveness of knowledge dissemination interventions. Specifically, this program announcement is designed to: stimulate research on factors that beneficially or adversely affect adoption of evidence-based mental health treatments into clinical practice and mental health service systems; identify factors that influence delivery of mental health treatments and contribute to their adherence by consumers and providers; test alternative approaches to dissemination of effective interventions; and promote development of a sound knowledge base on the effectiveness and applicability of knowledge dissemination interventions. The standard research (R01) and small (R03) grant mechanisms will be used. Contact: Harold Goldstein, 301/443-3747; goharold@nih.gov; http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/pa-files/PA-99-068.html. Deadlines: 6/1/01, 10/1/01, 2/1/02.

NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION (NSF)

The NSF supports Partnerships for Innovation (PFI) among colleges and universities, state and local governments, the private sector, and other relevant organizations. Goals of the PFI Program are to: stimulate transformation of knowledge created by the national research and education enterprise into innovations that create new wealth, build strong local, regional and national economies and improve the national well-being; broaden participation of all types of academic institutions and all citizens in NSF activities to more fully meet broad workforce needs of the national innovation enterprise; and create or enhance enabling infrastructure necessary to foster and sustain innovation in the long-term. To develop a set of ideas for pursuing these goals, this competition will support 10-15 promising partnerships. Proposals must be submitted as a single administrative package by the lead institution (which must be an academic institution of higher learning). A senior institutional administrator (Dean or higher) in the lead institution must serve as Principal Investigator or Co-Principal Investigator. Degree-granting academic institutions of higher learning may participate in no more than 2 proposals. Such institutions may submit only one proposal as the lead institution. Proposed Partnerships may request total budgets up to $25,000 each for award durations of 2-3 years. Contact: John C. Hurt, 703/292-5332; jhurt@nsf.gov; http://www.nsf.gov/pubs/2001/nsf0179/NSF0179.html. Deadlines: 3/30/01 (optional, non-binding notice of intent); 5/30/2001 (Full Proposal).

RESEARCH CORPORATION

Support is provided for highly innovative research in astronomy, chemistry, and physics that transcends the ordinary and promises significant discoveries. Examples of innovation include: exciting research into new areas of potential scientific importance; a novel approach to a long-standing problem; research that may create a new methodology of importance to science; application of expertise and insights from one area to advance another scientific discipline; and creative solutions to an interdisciplinary problem of recognized importance. Deadline: 5/1/01. Contact: Science Innovation Program, 520/571-1111; awards@rescorp.org; http://www.rescorp.org/roguide.html.

Research Opportunity Awards support mid-career and senior scientists to explore new areas of experimental research in astronomy, chemistry, and physics. Up to two tenured faculty members of Ph.D.-granting departments may be nominated annually by the department chair. Grants are up to $50,000 with a one-for-two match from the institution or department (up to $25,000). Contact: Science Advance- ment Program, 520/571-1111; awards@rescorp.org; http://www.rescorp.org/roguide.html. Deadline: 5/1/01, 10/1/01.

SOCIETY FOR CONTEMPORARY PHOTOGRAPHY

The Society provides support to regional photographers for artistic development and also provides opportunities of photographic exhibitions. The Society is dedicated to bringing the works of emerging, mid-career, and master photographers to the Midwest. One Fellowship Award of $1,000 and an exhibition at the Society’s gallery will be presented. In addition, 2 Excellence Awards of $500 each, and 3 Merit Awards of $250 each will be given. Eligible applicants are all amateur and professional photographers worldwide. Any photographic process is eligible, as long as it is original work created during the last 2 years and has not been exhibited in a previous Current Works Exhibition. Deadline: 6/1/01. Contact: Current Works 2001, scp@sky.net; http://www.scponline.org.

ADMINISTRATION FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILIES (ACF)

The Assets for Independence Demonstration (IDA) Program supports demonstration projects that will establish, implement, and participate in evaluation of Individual Development Accounts for lower income individuals and families. The goal of the program is to determine the social, civic, psychological, and economic effects of providing to individuals and families with limited means an incentive to accumulate assets by saving a portion of their earned income; the extent to which an asset-based policy that promotes saving for postsecondary education, homeowner-ship, and microenterprise development may be used to enable individuals and families with limited means to increase their economic self-sufficiency; and the extent to which an asset-based policy stabilizes and improves families and the community in which the families live. Approximately $13 million is available for funding commitments to approximately 45 projects, not to exceed $500,000 each. Deadline: 6/12/01. Contact: Richard Saul, 202/401-9341; rsaul@acf.dhhs.gov; http://frwebate.access.pro.gov/cgi-bin/getdoc.cgi?dbname=2001_register&docid=01-4242-filed.

RICHARDSON (SMITH) FOUNDATION, INC.

The Public Policy Research Fellowship Program supports the work of the next generation of public policy researchers and experts. Three or more grants of $60,000 each will be awarded to support postdoctoral faculty members to conduct research and writing on domestic public policy issues. Preference will be given to proposals that address policy issues that have been priority areas for the Foundation’s Domestic Public Policy Program during the past 3 years: child and youth development, including child care policy; family environment; (next page)

MARY ROBERTS RINEHART FUND
Support is provided for unpublished works of fiction, nonfiction, or poetry by writers who have not yet published a book or whose writing is not regularly appearing in nationally circulated commercial or literary magazines. Three grants of $2,000 each are awarded in the spring for the best nominated manuscript. Writers must be nominated by someone in the field--another writer, editor, or agent. Deadline: 11/30/01. Contact: Barb Gomperts, English Department, MSN 3E4, George Mason University; 703/993-1180; bgompert@gmu.edu.

NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH (NIH)
The National Institute of General Medical Sciences (NIGMS), the National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders (NIDCD), and the National Human Genome Research Institute (NHGRI) seek to encourage basic research on detection and manipulation of single molecules. The goals are to observe the dynamic behavior of individual molecules, to explore heterogeneity among molecules, and determine mechanisms of action. Single molecule studies are uniquely designed to yield information about molecular motion, behavior and fluctuations over time and space. An important aspect of the research will be to measure features of individual molecules that are masked by ensemble measurements. Real-time observation of single molecules in live cells, relative to in vitro studies, is an important goal. Potentially any biological molecule is a target for study, including studies on protein folding, enzyme catalysts, ion channels, signalling, DNA and DNA-protein binding, membrane structures, molecular motors, and complex cellular structures. The standard research grant (R01) mechanism will be used. Deadlines: 6/1; 10/1; 2/1. Contact: Catherine Lewis, NIGMS, 301/594-0828, lewisc@nigms.nih.gov; Nancy L. Freeman, NIDCD, 301/402-3458, Nancy_freeman@nih.gov; Jeffery A. Schloss, 301/496-7531, jeff_schloss@nih.gov.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY (EPA)
Proposals are solicited for the program on Market Mechanisms and Incentives for Environmental Management. This program supports theoretical and empirical research that will accomplish one or more of several related objectives: identify potential applications of MM&I to environmental quality issues that federal, state, and local agencies must address; estimate the impact of MM&I programs on environmental quality, innovation, technological change, trade and competitiveness, and consumer or corporate behavior; estimate (ex ante) or verify (ex post) costs, including transaction costs and cost-savings (relative to existing regulatory programs alone) of MM&I applications; identify who would likely bear the costs or realize the savings of MM&I programs; and/or demonstrate the relative effectiveness of MM&I programs in achieving environmental results in a variety of situations, compared to traditional regulatory or other approaches. The projected funding amount per award is from $50,000-$200,000 per award per year, with durations from 1-3 years. Field experiments, survey research, and multi-investigator projects may justify the higher funding level. Proposals requesting total funds over $400,000 are discouraged. Contact: Matthew Clark, 202/564-6842; clark.matthew@epa.gov. Deadline: 5/14/01.

Textbook Orders Due March 20

Attention Faculty Members: Fall 2001 textbook requisitions have been hand delivered by the University Bookstore to all departments this week. We ask that you work with us to get the correct information for your book orders by March 20 so we can prepare for Buyback. Buyback means cash for students and more used books on the shelves. -- University Bookstore.
